

Empire Mourns Death of Beloved King George V.

KING GEORGE V., beloved by millions of people in the British Empire, died at 4:55 p.m. (local time) on Monday. A radio bulletin announcing his passing caused a spontaneous pause throughout the pulsating life of the world when the not unexpected news flashed out from Sandringham. The thought that came to his loyal subjects was that a good man and a wise ruler had gone to his fathers. His benevolent kindness and solicitude for his people throughout the dark days of the Great War, and in the more recent period of depression, truly endeared him to people from the highest to the humblest walks in life. Not as a kind particularly, but as a friend, was he regarded, and his voice during several Christmas seasons served to more closely cement the bond of loyalty and respect of the people in the far-flung Dominions of the Empire. They sympathize with Queen Mary and the members of the Royal family as if they were their own friends or relatives, and that invisible bond which always has been a powerful unifying force of the British peoples at home and abroad is further emphasized in the general grief expressed at this time. Closer to the hearts of the people than even the late Queen Victoria or King Edward, his memory will be revered in the pages of history, as one who though the head of the Empire throughout the most troublous periods of the century, yet remained steady and firm and retained the love and affection of his people when other monarchies totter and fell in the vortex of the world's greatest upheaval of modern times. Truly may it be sung: "Lord, now Letteth Thou Thy servant depart in peace, according to Thy Word."

Memorial Services on Sunday in Churches

In common with the rest of the Empire, St. Paul's church will hold memorial services morning and evening in loving remembrance and respect of His Majesty King George V., whose passing has cast a gloom over the whole world. Let all gather and pay homage to the memory of a great and notable King. Veterans are especially invited. Special music morning and evening. Join in honoring the memory of our late beloved monarch.

Good Year In Town Financing During 1935

Town Collected Over 100% of Current Tax Levy During 1935—Operating Costs Reduced

In submitting his annual financial report for 1935 on the administration of the town's affairs, E. D. Batrum, auditor, states: "You will notice that the town actually collected more than 100% of the current tax levy during 1935, and paid the Supplementary Revenue Tax for 1935 in full to the Alberta government; also that the total cash receipts exceeded those of 1934 by some $1,604.53, and at the same time the actual operating costs for 1935 were reduced by some $689.17 compared to 1934."

The report is printed in full in this paper and is well worth careful reading by ratepayers. It will indicate that by careful supervision town has been well served during the past year and the ratepayers have received good value.

Another important factor that should not be overlooked is that a further reduction was made on electric current, bringing the monthly charges down to almost 50% of what they were two years ago, and a 20% reduction in water accounts. These reductions have resulted in considerable savings to every light and water consumer.

The annual meetings of the town and school district ratepayers will be in all likelihood held on Friday, January 31, which is the statutory date.

FRASER McLEOD, MASTER MECHANIC AT INTER-NATIONAL MINE

Resigning at the end of the month as provincial boiler inspector, which position he has occupied for several years, and residing at Lethbridge, Fraser McLeod will take over the duties of master mechanic here in succession to C. J. Devine, who succeeded John Scott a few years ago.

It is understood that a re-alignment has been made in the shops whereby Mr. Devine will be allotted other duties, but no confirmation of any new appointments has been obtained.

The Edmonton Bulletin, in its "Publishers' Parade" at the annual convention: "Always an outstanding character and favorite with the weekly publishers, W. J. 'Shorty' Bartlett of the Blairmore Enterprise arrived, his seven foot two inches towering through the door. 'The porters on trains invariably knock down the partition between two berths to make room for 'Shorty,' grinned Commentator McCreia amid a general laugh in which the Blairmore publisher joined."

THE SOLUTION OF THIS PROBLEM

From Alberta Labor News

Once more the hazardous nature of the coal mining industry has been brought to public attention in a tragic way. Regardless of all the precautions that are taken to make mining as safe as possible, disasters like that which took place at Coalhurst continue to occur in the mines of this and other countries. As long as men must go into the bowels of the earth to dig coal, widows and orphans will continue to be made by explosions, falls of rock and other accidents from which the industry will never be entirely free.

It is only when such a wholesale tragedy takes place that people begin to realize the dangers that go with coal mining. But the fact is that accidents are occurring practically daily in the mines of the provinces. Some of them are fatal, but because they occur singly they do not get the big newspaper headlines. Many of them leave men partially or completely incapacitated for life. The records of the Workmen's Compensation Board reveal the true and tragic story of the toll of life and limb that is paid by the men who go down into the Alberta mines.

Coal mining is a necessary occupation and probably it will continue to be so. The risks of the industry must therefore be taken. But society should see to it that those who take the risks should be properly compensated for their labor and insured against the hazards they must face.

But what is the situation now? In Alberta the worst hovel in which people have to live are found in some of the mining towns. Overcrowding, lack of sanitation and everything else that makes a shack anything but a home is common. And what else can be expected when the yearly wage of the miner is not enough to provide him and his family with the decencies of life?

Due to the efforts of the Labor Movement the miner and his family are protected to some degree by workmen's compensation for injuries received in the course of employment. But there are many features of this legislation that require improvement. Possibly the most notable of these is the provision for the partially disabled workman. Mining is heavy work, work which requires the full play of a man's limbs. A man meets with an accident in the mine that results in permanent disablement, such as a stiff leg, or the loss of a hand. He receives compensation for the period of his complete incapacitation, but there comes a time when the Compensation Board rules that he is now ready for "light work." He is cut off compensation and paid a small pension to cover the measure of his disability. This pension is, of course, not enough to exist on. Because there is no "light work" for him the miner becomes an object of charity or public relief. Is it fair that he should have to bear the full burden of an injury received in an occupation that society says must, in its interest, be carried on?

Without seeking to anticipate the report of the Barlow Commission it is to be hoped that the Coalhurst tragedy will draw attention in a forceful way to the need of economic and social justice for the coal miner.

The "Labor News" is more convinced than ever that the solution of the problem is the nationalization of coal mining and the regulation of the industry as a social service. Under the present competitive system with a needless multiplicity of mines and prodigious waste on every hand it will remain impossible for the miners to get the remuneration or protection that will constitute a just return for their hazardous labor.

Pipe Band Proposed--Meetings Arranged

Skirl of Pipes Will Awake Echoes of the Glens and Fire Imagination of Scots and "Brithers A'"

A meeting was held in the town hall of those interested in organizing a pipe band. Present were Pipe Major J. Moore, A. Dewar, Peter Smith and James Denholm. As a result of the discussion it was decided to advise through The Journal that boys or girls from the age of 14 years up would be given free tuition by Pipe Major Moore, in order to develop a pipe band among the young people. The initial cost for a pupil would be about $2.50, and later on, in about a year, pupils would be required to purchase their own bagpipes. Nationality would be no bar to membership. Pupils desiring of private tuition may arrange same. Prospective pupils should hand their names to Peter Smith or A. Dewar. The committee will meet again on Sunday, Jan. 25 at 2:30 in the town hall, at which interested parties will be welcomed.

A burst water main on Sixth street early this morning caused a gushing rivulet to flow merrily to the lower regions of the town.

Mrs. H. C. McBurney entertained a number of friends at bridge last evening.

Preparations Made For Opening Of Parliament Feb. 6

Ottawa.—Intensive preparation for the opening of parliament on Feb. 6 will mark the present week in Ottawa. One of the big problems facing the government is unemployment relief, and the department of labor, under Hon. N. McL. Rogers, will endeavor to have ready for parliament a reclassification of these persons receiving direct relief in the expectation it will enable the commonsense and the senate to become better informed on the needs of the situation. His survey will also provide data for the proposed national commission on employment and relief.

Supreme court will continue its hearings on the reference as to the constitutionality of the social and economic legislation passed in the last two sessions. On the following week a conference of law officers of the provincial governments and the federal department of justice will study methods of amending the British North America Act. The conference has been called by Hon. Ernest Lapointe.

Cabinet council will grapple this week with a heavy legislative program while Finance Minister Charles Dunning is busy with budget making. The minister has interviewed numerous delegations and received hundreds of communications offering suggestions and requests for special tariff action.

While budget details are always kept strictly secret, the usual speculation has opened, and the general belief seems to be the government will go slowly in carrying out promised lowering of the tariff structure.

Events moved rapidly last week. The Dominion-provincial conference on financial questions reached an agreement on a proposed new set-up to govern future financial relations between provinces and the Dominion treasury, involving the creation of loan councils for each province borrowing under a federal guarantee, and a national finance council to co-ordinate financial policies in general throughout the Dominion.

Thirty Day Reprieve Has Been Granted To Hauptmann

Trenton, N.J.—Bruno Richard Hauptmann, convicted Lindbergh baby killer, was saved temporarily from the electric chair by his reprieve from Governor Hoffman.

It came only 29 hours before the hour of execution.

"I am granting a reprieve," the governor said, "for divers reasons which I do not care to disclose at this time."

The reprieve, though only for 30 days, actually assures Hauptmann of at least eight more weeks of life and perhaps three months due to the fact it will be necessary to resent him.

Governor Hoffman acted soon after the United States supreme court, in a one-sentence decision by Chief Justice Hughes, had denied Hauptmann's appeal for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of execution.

There will be only the one reprieve, "unless the evidence should warrant" another, the governor said. If Hauptmann is finally to be saved, it must be through the presentation of sufficient new evidence to warrant Justice Thomas Trenchard, who sat

Farmers' Lot Is Improved

Position Of Canadian Agriculture Better Than A Year Ago

Ottawa.—All factors considered, the position of Canadian agriculture is better now than a year ago and there is reason to hope one year from now the position will be further improved, according to the annual survey and outlook made public by the department of agriculture.

This annual survey serves to a considerable extent as a guide to farmers in their spring planning. After a comprehensive review of the wheat situation the review said: "While the wheat situation in so far as Canada is concerned is involved at the moment, yet this year from now the position will be further improved, according to the annual survey and outlook made public by the department of agriculture."

It should be noted, however, that in view of the greatly reduced world import demand the wheat produced by a normal yield on an acreage similar to that sown in 1935 would be difficult of disposal.

"The quality of Canadian wheat has long enjoyed an enviable reputation on the world's markets and this must be maintained. In certain sections of the west, but chiefly in the so-called 'park belt,' the quality is liable to be below the average and in such sections it would seem desirable to adopt a system of farming that would involve a diversion of some of this wheat and to other crops. Fortunately, these sections are better adapted to coarse grains and livestock than are certain other areas that are restricted largely to wheat."

May Protect Indians

Old Treaty Covering Hunting Protected In Ontario Court

Windsor, Ont.—A clause of what is believed to be the Jay treaty effected by Governor Simcoe in 1792 and stating that Indians may hunt within 16 feet of the banks of any creek in Canada, was produced in court here by R. A. Carleton, lawyer defending two Indians on an illegal hunting charge. The result was that Magistrate S. B. Arnold reserved judgment in the case for a month while he investigates the authority of the Jay treaty in relation to present day conditions.

Must Pay Tax

Civil Servants In Manitoba Drawing Pay From Federal Government, Are Liable

Ottawa.—The supreme court of Canada decided that Canadian soldiers and Dominion civil servants drawing pay from the federal government and living in Manitoba were liable for payment of the two per cent. income tax imposed by the Manitoba legislature in 1933.

The decision will affect more than 3,500 employees of the Dominion government and members of the permanent militia forces.

Storage Of Gas

First Attempt In Canada To Store Gas Underground

Calgary.—Successful storage of gas in a depleted field—the first known attempt in Canada to store gas underground—has been accomplished according to an announcement by P. D. Mellon, general superintendent and chief engineer of the Canadian Western Natural Gas, Light, Heat and Power Company.

The company has repressured the Bow Island gas field. Mr. Mellon said, and 8,000,000 cubic feet of gas had been stored in the field up to Dec. 31, 1935. Of 27 wells in the field, 18 were sealed and the nine others were recommissioned and made available for receiving and repressuring purposes.

Experiments were first carried out in the field, the engineer stated, and when these proved successful in raising the pressure by injecting 37,000,000 feet of gas into eight wells raising the rock pressure 30 pounds per square inch, the Dominion government co-operated by issuing an order-in-council withdrawing the rights to file or drill on approximately 20 square miles of territory.

Army Budget Doubled

Soviet Will Spend Large Sum To Strengthen Forces

Moscow.—After repeated charges aggressive neighbors are threatening the Soviet Union with war both to the east and west, the government announced its military budget for 1936 will be more than double that of last year.

During 1935 the standing army was brought to approximately 1,300,000 men.

Russia this year will spend 14,000,000,000 rubles ($2,800,000,000 under the new official exchange rate) on armed forces, Gregory Ginko, commissar of finance, announced to the all-Union central executive committee. The committee unanimously approved the proposal.

Last year's war budget was 6,500,000,000 rubles, but the expenditures actually reached more than 8,500,000,000 rubles.

Ginko also announced 28,700,000,000 rubles will be used this year for construction work, a large part of which will go to the reconstruction of Moscow and Leningrad.

Alaskan Cities Quarantined

Mild Cases Of Scarlet Fever In Many Places

Anchorage, Alaska.—Anchorage joined the list of "quarantined cities" as scarlet fever cases numbered seven, all mild. The schools were closed and public gatherings banned. Fairbanks and Palmer also have been quarantined for scarlet fever and smallpox.

Seward, Alaska.—Dr. A. D. Havelock of the public health service, asked the coast guard cutter Morris to despatch from Cordova to Port Graham, where 15 persons were reported ill of an undetermined malady.

Port Graham is a fishing village on Cook Inlet, near the tip of the Kenai peninsula.

Bank Employees Shot

Two Members Of Bank Of Commerce Staff In Vancouver Shot In Holdup

Vancouver.—Police arrested three known underworld characters and held them for investigation in the holdup of the Powell street branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce where two bank employees were shot, one probably fatally, by three bandits who escaped with $1200.

Meanwhile chief of police W. W. Foster announced the Canadian Bankers' Association had offered $5,000 for information leading to the arrest of the gunmen involved in the holdup which may cost young William H. Hobbs, former Radisson, Sask. bank clerk, his life and sent Thomas Winsby, bank manager, to hospital with a bullet wound in his left arm.

Winsby also came from Saskatchewan where he was manager of several branches until transferred here in 1927.

Despite the three arrests officers continued to scour the city.

The wounded men were rushed to hospital where it was found the bullet had pierced Hobbs' throat, striking his spine and paralyzing him. An emergency operation was performed and he was put under an oxygen tent.

Hobbs, 25 years old, was formerly with the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Radisson, Sask. He came to British Columbia in 1933. His parents were reported to be living in Edmonton.

Heckler Asks Question

Malcolm MacDonald Is Queried Regarding Canadian Oats

Dingwall, Scotland.—Canadian oats entered the picturesque by-election battle in the constituency of Ross and Cromarty.

"Could you not, as dominions secretary, have already stopped excessive importation of Canadian oats?" a heckler questioned Malcolm MacDonald at a meeting of farmers in Dingwall cattle market.

"I have been dominions secretary only a few weeks," MacDonald replied. "It depends on you whether I am going to remain dominions secretary for more than another few weeks," he continued and laughed. His policy was the home producer first and the dominions second, MacDonald said.

Rudyard Kipling, Famed British Author, Dies After Operation

London.—Rudyard Kipling, distinguished British writer of tales and poems, died suddenly in Middlesex hospital, less than five days after he had undergone an operation for a perforated stomach ulcer.

Although he had not spoken and had shown almost no visible signs of life for several hours, even his nurses were not aware that the end was so near.

Snow fell outside and the entire hospital was still when the unexpected announcement of Kipling's death was made.

An excited messenger burst into a waiting room of the hospital and in a voice filled with emotion cried, "Mr. Kipling is dead."

While it has been admitted the writer's condition was "extremely critical" during the evening, periodic bulletins issued up to shortly before his death said his condition was unchanged.

Just before the end, however, Dr. A. E. Webb-Johnson, realizing it was unlikely Kipling had sufficient strength to rally, warned Mrs. Kipling, who was at the bedside with their daughter, to prepare for the worst.

Occasionally during the last hours Mrs. Kipling had leaned forward and gently stroked her husband's hand, but he was too weary to make any sign of recognition.

Only at the end, which came peacefully, did he seem to recognize his wife and daughter. The two women, worn out with grief after their long vigil and almost in a state of collapse, were put to bed by the hospital staff soon after the noted author died.

The entire staff of the hospital showed grief over Kipling's death. Patients in other wards had anxiously awaited news from his bedside. Gloom settled over the whole seven-story building, one of the largest and oldest hospitals in central London, when it was announced that he was in a serious condition.

Even before that, in the days since his operation, only Kipling's flashing eyes had revealed the struggle he was making for life—a struggle in keeping with the rugged strength which he showed throughout his career.

Complete Picture Of Automobile Industry Given To Board

Ottawa.—A complete picture of the Canadian automobile industry, its claims for protection and arguments against protection is now before the tariff board as a result of the automobile hearing, which ended Jan. 16.

In final submissions to the board representatives of the western provinces contended the tariff on automobiles should be reduced or removed and argued manufacturers should be reduced to and kept at the lowest possible level, and not at the level of absolute safety frequently demanded by manufacturers.

The last word at the hearing was from Wallace R. Campbell, president of the Ford Motor Company, who said the automobile industry needed protection to the same extent as other secondary industries in Canada and submitted it was now too late for Canada to turn back on industrialization after large manufacturing industries had been established here.

Canada could have a healthy automobile industry without any duty protection, Dr. W. A. Carruthers, economic advisor to the British Columbia government, told the tariff board.

The automobile industry, Dr. Carruthers said, had never tried to get along without protection. It had developed out of the old carriage industry which enjoyed protection of 35 per cent, and naturally had taken advantage of all the protection it received down through the years. With the industry now well established, staffed with clever executives, and enjoying the natural advantage of being on the spot, he believed it could prosper without protection. It would mean adjustments and some people would lose jobs and have to find others, but it would help the country in the long run.

Canada's tariff structure placed British Columbia in an adverse trading position, he said. That province

High and low throughout the empire awaited the hourly bulletins telling of what they feared would be the great author's last fight.

The king at Sandringham, Queen Mary, and Prime Minister Baldwin, Kipling's cousin, inquired daily for news.

Clubmen watched ticker-tapes for the latest reports. The man in the street anxiously scanned posters and news stands.

All asked, "Will he win?"

He lost, and the news of his death came as a shock to the whole empire.

Dr. Webb-Johnson said, after the author had died, "Mr. Kipling's end was very peaceful—it came very suddenly. His wife and his daughter were with him. He put up a splendid fight and remained conscious all the time."

News of the serious illness of Kipling had stirred all Britain and the rest of the British empire.

It recalled the closing years of the last century when Kipling came out of India and sprang into the literary front-rank almost overnight. His brilliant short stories, such as those contained in "Plain Tales From the Hills" and the vivid manner in which he portrayed army life in "Soldiers Three," took the English-speaking world literally by storm.

Kipling's verse set virtually a new pattern, too. Free-riding, it had a gusty, hearty quality about it that carried conviction.

Before long he earned the title "Poet of Empire." His "Recessional," marking the diamond jubilee of Queen Victoria's reign, became one of the best-known poems of the time.

Other tales bore a special appeal for children. "The Jungle Book," which chronicled an Indian setting the adventures of Mowgli, quickly became popular and so did the "Just-So" stories.

Predicts Socialism In Britain

Toronto.—"Within four or five years there is strong likelihood a moderate form of Socialistic government will be in power in Great Britain," the Marquis of Lothian, noted British political authority, predicted in an address before the Canadian Club here.

had to pay heavily for its automobiles made in Ontario and got no corresponding benefit from the industry.

The British Columbia did not wish to destroy the industries of eastern Canada, but it wished the question of tariff protection to be weighed in a broad Canadian spirit. It thought that inasmuch as tariffs bore heavily on the outlying provinces they should be reduced to and kept at the lowest possible level, and not at the level of absolute safety frequently demanded by manufacturers.

"Wishart Robertson, representing Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, said the maritime provinces desired keenly a reduction in the price of automobiles.

The whole tenor of the automobile companies' submissions, with few exceptions, said Mr. Robertson, ignored the real object of the inquiry, lower prices for automobiles in Canada. They made a plea for continued protection and continued higher prices.

Prices of cars in Canada were 30 to 50 per cent. higher than in the United States, said Mr. Robertson. Prices of parts showed an even greater spread and prices of used cars ranged as much as 100 per cent. higher than in the United States.

By regulating, drawbacks and arbitrary valuations the real protection afforded Canadian automobile manufacturers was much higher than the customs tariff of 20 per cent, he continued. This enabled Canadian manufacturers to sell cars at prices higher than the duty-paid price of imported United States cars.

"I suggest methods of raising the tariff and increasing protection without letting the public know about it is unsound," said Mr. Robertson. "The industry is built on an unsound basis when it is built on that basis."

NOTES AND COMMENTS

WE VISITED the Capital, the first time since the Social Credit government was elected. The first man of importance we met, unofficially, and quite unexpectedly, was none other than Premier Aberhart. Shortly after 8 a. m., after an early arrival in the city, and awaiting to be allotted to a room in the Macdonald hotel, who should step out of the elevator than the premier, looking as fresh as a daisy.

THE POLITE young gentleman at the hotel desk volunteered the information that the premier comes down at the same time every morning, walks into the cafeteria, where you pick up a tray and choose your breakfast from the varied menu, then proceed to a small table and eat. No delay in being served; no waitresses hovering around the tables, except to gather up the empty dishes. And so the most prominent man in the public eye in Alberta demonstrates his democratic principles and disdain of the main dining room with its steward waiting to conduct you to a seat and waiters in white starched uniforms to anticipate your every want. Very different to a well-known Labor leader in the old country of whom it was reported, when found by some friends to be dining sumptuously, told them he did so because he believed everybody should enjoy their meals just as much as he was doing.

AN ENTERPRISING newspaper man in the city, sensing the interest a picture would create, showing the premier carrying his breakfast on a tray, asked if he would allow his photo to be taken. The premier balked at this, though American newspaper hounds would have taken it without asking. Yet how many would be glad to have a picture of the premier balancing his morning victuals on a tray, just because it would have a human interest appeal.

LATER in the morning, a delegation of newspapermen went merrily forth to the Parliament buildings, to try and impress on Attorney-General John Huggill the futility of banning liquor advertising in Alberta newspapers when he had no control of it being circulated through other mediums coming into the province. "Your government was elected on a promise of increasing purchasing power, yet you chop off from every weekly newspaper the equivalent of the $25 monthly dividend," one of the delegation remarked. To which Mr. Huggill replied; "You're looking at it from your own particular angle." The reply to this was: "Our only politics are our vital interests, the same as are those of most political parties."

HE THUMBED his calendar, made a few remarks on not wishing to be unfair to the newspapers, and did not wish them to be deprived of the revenue they might derive from contracts at present existing, then decided to hold off the ban till May 1; but—said he: "Understand we do not intend to depart from the government's original intention." So that was that! With a parting hint that there should be more reciprocity between the government and the editors, one gathered the impression that Mr. Huggill was not so hostile to them as his chief, who did not appear at the conference, but who, as everyone knows, has expressed the hope none of them would enter the kingdom of heaven.

HOWEVER, cabinet ministers of the Social Credit government are finding many thorns in the path of political life, and that grappling with realities is more difficult than making glittering pre-election promises to people too willing to embrace them without further thought than being told: "It can be done." We enjoyed the visit, brief though it was.

THOUGH a Social Credit cabinet minister, Mr. Huggill does not absorb the religious teachings of his government leader. The writer was informed that he sticks to the orthodox Anglican church, and reads the lessons on Sunday in the church which he attends.

AS EXPECTED, two articles in Maclean's Magazine by its editor, Napier Moore, dealing impartially on Social Credit after spending some time in Edmonton and Calgary, aroused the ire of Premier Aberhart and followers, resulting in a deluge of letters from Social Crediters, all of them in the most vitriolic tone. The statement that the Bible Institute owned the radio station CFCN it is reported was based on the fact that mortgages in favor of the Institute and secured by the equipment of the radio station were in the Registry office in Calgary. In predicting that Alberta would be talked of all around the world, Premier Aberhart was right. Collier's Magazine is the latest to give it further publicity but not in the way the premier would have desired.

AT THE newspapermen's convention, Mayor Elton, K.C. of Lethbridge, guest speaker at a luncheon, demonstrated his dramatic power of oratory by reciting the late Rudyard Kipling's "Recessional." It was timely, and with the

Biographical Briefs of Local Business Houses

JAMES M. ALLAN, proprietor of Coleman Cash Grocery and a member of Associated Grocers Ltd., who this year celebrates the 21st anniversary of his opening here, came from Scotland to Thedford, Ontario in 1913.

In 1915, after having lived in Alberta a comparatively short time, he established his own business here, under its present name, and has by careful attention and close study of the public requirements in his lines, built up a prosperous business.

He was married in Ontario, Mrs. Allan coming from Scotland, and their daughter Margaret was born there, while their son "Jimmy" was born in Coleman.

In local affairs Mr. Allan has been a school trustee, and for three years was chairman of the board, serving six years in all. In church matters he has always been active in support of the United Church in Coleman, and is a member of the Board of Managers. He is also a member of Summit Lodge, A.F. & A.M.

He has been a steady influence in local affairs, and long residence here has enabled him to become fully acquainted with the problems that arise occasionally in connection with local affairs. He is counted as one of Coleman's really worth-while business men and one who has also given time and energy towards community progress.

B.P.O.E. Installation

Town of Coleman Financial Statement

FOR THE YEAR ENDING DECEMBER 31, 1935.

Calgary, Alberta,
14th January, 1936.

The Mayor and Councillors,
The Town of Coleman,
Alberta.

Gentlemen:

In accordance with your instructions I have audited the books and records of the Town of Coleman for the year ended 31st December, 1935, and besides completing the printed report form furnished by the Department of Municipal Affairs for Alberta, I have prepared the following attached Statements from the records of the Town for your information—

1. Cash Statement for year 1935.
  2. Revenue Statement for year 1935.
  3. Balance Sheet as at 31st December, 1935.
- The Cash Statement deals only with the actual cash received and paid out by the Town during the year regardless of what it related to. The Revenue Statement shows only the receipts and operating expenses applicable to the year 1935 regardless of whether such receipts actually reached the Town before 31st December, 1935, or whether such expenses were paid before 31st December, 1935. This Statement therefore shows that after making the usual allowance for Depreciation of the various Physical Assets of the Town, the Town was operated in 1935 at a Surplus of $2,697.17, but you will also note that the sum of $9,611.78 was expended during 1935 on Capital Expenditures in addition to the ordinary Operating Costs.

You will notice that the Town actually collected more than 100% of the Current Tax Levy during 1935; and paid the Supplementary Revenue Tax for 1935 in full to the Alberta Government; also that the total cash receipts exceeded those of 1934 by some $1,604.55, and at the same time the actual Operating Costs for 1935 were reduced by some $639.17 compared with 1934.

I beg to report that I visited your office six times during the past year and that on each occasion I found the work up to date, the records in balance and the cash properly accounted for.

Subject to the foregoing I certify that, in my opinion, the attached Balance Sheet is properly drawn up to disclose a true and correct view of the affairs of the Town of Coleman as at 31st December, 1935, according to the best of my information, the explanations given to me and as shown by the books of the Town of Coleman, Alberta.

(Signed) E. D. BATTRUM, Auditor.

THE MAN WHO CLEANS HIS WALK

Some of our larger cities have ordinances requiring residents to clear the snow off the walk in front of their premises within an hour after each snowfall. If it is not cleaned the city will send a man around to do it and charge the expense against the property.

Many people have to walk where they want to go. What a relief after wading along in the snow to stamp the feet on a cleared walk and swing along foot-free.

Most of the people in Coleman clear their walks within a reasonable length of time after snowfalls. You can tell a lot about folks just by watching their walks—not their gaits.

It takes courage to leave a warm fireside and get out in the cold during or shortly after a storm to clear a walk.

A man can be lazy and still have the reputation for clearing his walks. If he has quick acting will-power the neighbors never find out that he is lazy.

He may be naturally slovenly—the type who does things by halves. But if he does a good thorough job clearing his walk—full width—someone may speak a good word for him when needed most.

He may not be one who visits the sick, but if he sprinkles salt, sand or sawdust on a slippery walk people may consider him kind and of a far-seeing, preventive disposition.

You can tell a lot about a man by his walk. But a clever man can cover up a number of defects by carefully uncovering his walk in the winter.

SENTENCE STIMULANT

Teachers of character help produce young citizens of character. The state pays crime bills. The state hires teachers to help produce honorable citizens as well as informed citizens. Teaching the child (leading him into the finest expression of his best self) is more important than teaching a subject—say modern effective educators. We are on the right track. If we can keep on it and keep the train going, desired destinations are sure.

When you need to get somewhere in cold weather even a poorly finished car that gets going without too much coaxing or pushing is highly prized. The clerk or mechanic or salesman who keeps this in mind these days is going to have many other imperfections overlooked.

MERCHANTS! Strive to develop new business among Coleman buyers by advertising in your local weekly paper—The Journal—thereby setting the example of buying at home.

LOCAL NEWS

A meeting of the musical festival committee for 1936 was called for the Greenhill hotel on Tuesday evening, to appoint new sub-committees and plan for the year's work. J. E. Upton is the new president, and Mrs. J. H. Farmer was re-appointed secretary at the last annual meeting.

A general meeting of the Canadian Legion was held in the Odd fellows hall on Friday, to discuss organizing to provide club quarters for the branch. A committee recently met. Mr. George Kellock to discuss the proposal with him, and they were to make a subsequent report following a discussion with the general membership.

St. John Ambulance Association Doing Splendid Work

80% of Class of 100 Took Exams
Under Local Instructors—
Meetings Every Sunday

Sixty members of the local branch of St. John Ambulance Association were examined on Sunday by J. McAndrews, of Calgary, who is a member of the Workmen's Compensation Board, and Dr. Blair, of Coleman. They were assisted in the practical work by Archie McCulloch and Ernest X. Hill.

The classes at present number over 100, of which 80% took examinations.

International and McGillivray Coal Companies will this year again enter for Dominion championships in First Aid work. It is of interest to note that Col. J. T. Clarke, genial director of Ottawa, who has made annual visits to Coleman for several years, has resigned owing to ill-health, and his successor is Col. A. E. Snell, who will likely visit here for the annual examinations in May.

The members meet every Sunday in Central school for instruction under the local doctors and branch instructors.

Since 1924 John M. Rushton has faithfully carried on the duties of secretary-treasurer, and R. M. Greenhalgh has been president since the late David Davidson resigned in 1928 to go to Alexo, and whose death was recorded last week.

THE IDEAL LIFE-SWEET-HEART

Youth faces a new world. So far as they know they were never here before. Surrounded by loving care, in pleasant, comfortable homes, eating palate-tickling food, looking at pretty flowers and gorgeous sunsets, they grow into adolescence expecting to see the best in everything.

Gradually they become disillusioned in regard to some things. They find imperfections. If the knowledge comes too suddenly or harshly they may become pessimists or they may be embittered for life.

But with most people a belief in the possibility of making the ideal become the real lingers strong through life.

In Rochester, New York, the other day it was revealed that male university students have a very definite ideal mate in mind. She must be a good housekeeper with all the trades and arts implied "until we earn enough to hire help." She must have beauty, style and brains with a desire to continually improve herself.

She must have personality, a sense of humor and the charming characteristics of a good hostess.

Add to this a strong community spirit and a devotion to the higher life and you have woman enough to some day make a real man out of most any of these boys who expect too much.

Usually you will find the real shopping opportunities advertised in The Journal.

A LIFE OF CRIME FROM AGE TEN

The recent account of the Boston prison break carried the following sentence: "Prison records disclosed three of the convicts, who may face charges of murder for the death of Richards, started their criminal careers between the age of ten and fourteen."

It would be interesting to know what sinister forces or lack of good influences cheated these one-time boys out of a normal, wholesome chance at life.

For anyone who knows human personality knows of a surety that before those boys were twenty they had many moments of self-examination. Many times they felt the contrasting difference between their lives and the lives of clean-living boys they knew or read about. They knew moments of utter loneliness, of bitterness against evil environments or lack of opportunity.

Think of your boy condemned by conditions attending his birth or upbringing which he could neither avert nor control, being forced to eke out an existence, a life-long existence hunted or caged.

What are the remedies? Their name is legion. Slum-clearance is one way, day school classes in character development would be another. The Christmas season reminds us of what judges of juvenile courts often point out, namely, that seldom does a boy appear before them who has invested as much as three years in a church school. When religious teaching gets a foothold in a boy's makeup it usually crowds foreign ideas out. The next time this writer feels like laying a-b-d Sunday morning he's going to get up and get to church lest some boy takes a wrong steer from an apparently good citizen and neglects his religious training.

MR. ABERHART AND THE PRESS

Winnipeg Free Press

These supermen that come out of Calgary and strut their hour, usually brief, on the stage, make a specialty of denouncing the press. Mr. Aberhart is the current performer; and his show is about up to the average. His complaint against the Free Press which he carried on Sunday to an Eastern audience can best be described by his own favorite terms of "piffing"; while his charge against the Canadian press has been formally challenged as baseless.

Mr. Aberhart's grievance against the press is that of all dictators, actual or would-be. His offence is that it prints the facts and it keeps the record. This is inconvenient and annoying to those whose itch to run all things is specially strong with respect to the dissemination of news and opinion.

Mr. Aberhart is not, as he seems to think, a mark for the enmity of the press. He is the current political curiosity of Canada; and the public press records his sayings, his doings, his promises, his threats, his boastings, his prophecies, because the public are, for the moment, interested in them. If they are of a character to put him in a light before the public which is not pleasing to him, he ought to look nearer home for the remedy; and not to make the mistake, which others have made, of thinking that by lively onslaughts upon the press he is going to improve his position with the public.

The newspapers of Canada are not pursuing Mr. Aberhart; they are simply reporting him with objective indifference. They will faithfully record his performances whatever they may be. When he pays $25 a month to every adult in Alberta there will not be a paper in Canada that will not give his achievement the place of honor on the front page. Mr. Aberhart has only to deliver the goods to have the press of Canada make his success known to the world. He would be better advised therefore to get on with his job in place of looking so industriously for allis as to give rise to the suspicion even among his devoted followers that he is not so sure of himself and his policy as he was.

Now Science Explains Why So Many People Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping
Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people "round 40 think they're 'growing old.' They feel tired a lot... 'weak.' Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity.

When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia after meals and before going to bed. That's all.

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS'" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Made in Canada.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale in all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Eye To See In Dark

Vacuum Tube Shows Scene As Sharp As Visible Light

Science has given man an eye to see in the dark—a foot-long vacuum tube on which the invisible infra-red and ultra-violet rays that fill the air form a visible, living, moving, continuous image.

The new tube was shown for the first time at a general meeting in St. Louis of the American Association for the Advancement of Science by its discoverers and inventors, Dr. V. K. Zworykin and Dr. George Morton of the Radio Corporation of America laboratories.

The scene revealed by the vision tube is greenish-black and white, without other colors. But it is as sharp and distinct as visible light.

Many practical applications appear to be immediately realizable. An airplane with such a telescope could guide itself into a secret landing field by an infra-red, or black light, beacon so dark as to be invisible to persons near it on the field.

Of all the stories of Dwight Morrow's absentmindedness this is one of the best. After talking to a friend along the sidewalk on lower Broadway for some time, Mr. Morrow, saying good-bye, inquired:—"By the way, when you met me was I going uptown or downtown?" The reply was downtown. "That's fine, then," beamed the banker. "I've had my lunch."

Woman Receives $1,000 Legacy For Befriending Stranger

A few minutes' hospitality and a little kindness shown by a Prince Edward Island woman to a stranger 36 years ago has been remembered by a bequest of $1,000 specified in the will of the recipient of the kindness. The legacy was bequeathed to Mrs. Reuben Cate, a native of Summerside, by Miss Grace Fletcher Kelly, 80-year-old eccentric Boston reclus, who died in that city recently.

In 1900, Miss Kelly was in East Concord attending the funeral of her sister, which was being held in a cemetery directly adjoining the lot on which stood Mrs. Cate's home. After the service Mrs. Cate noticed Miss Kelly standing, overcome with grief, beside the grave. Although she was a stranger, Mrs. Cate went to the graveyard and invited the Boston woman "to come in and rest and have a cup of tea."

Miss Kelly accepted the invitation and said on leaving: "I'll never forget you for this."

JESUS DECLARES HIS PURPOSE

Golden text:

The Spirit of the Lord is upon me, Because he anointed me to preach good tidings to the poor; He hath sent me to proclaim release to the captives, And recovering of sight to the blind, To set at liberty them that are bruised, To proclaim the acceptance year of the Lord. Luke 4:18,19.

Lesson: Luke 4:16-44.

Devotional reading: Isaiah 61:1-3, 10, 11.

Explanations And Comments

Jesus Declares His Purpose. Luke 4:16-21. Jesus came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and where he had lived through his early manhood until the age of thirty, and on the Sabbath entered the synagogue as his custom was. From the age of four he had been trained by his parents to attend the synagogue services, and now that he had come back inspired for his great work he continued to frequent the place of worship.

As requested by the presiding officer of the synagogue, or of his own accord as was frequently done, Jesus stood up to read the morning lesson. The attendant (verse 20) in whose charge were the rolls, handed him the roll of the prophet Isaiah, and he unrolled it at the sixty-first chapter and read the first two verses, adding thereto the clause "to set at liberty them that are bruised." He purposely inserted these obscure words in the passage read, in accordance with a common custom. The rabbi said: "The reader of the sheets may skip from one text to another, but he may not skip from one prophet to another, but in the twelve (minor) it is lawful." This passage, in which the prophet declares to the exiles their approaching deliverance, is now read in Jewish synagogues on the Day of Atonement, and may have been read at the time" (Dummslow).

The Incredulity of the People. Luke 4:22-24. All his hearers were astonished at the words of grace which Jesus spoke, but the effect of the words was neutralized by their long-time acquaintance with him, for they said, in a buzz of talk as the discourse ended, "Is not this Joseph's Son?" And therefore not the Messiah, no one great, not the prophet, and certainly not the Messiah, they meant. Seeing Jesus in the flesh prevented their seeing Christ in Jesus.

A One-Track Mind

Man With Single Purpose Does Not Accomplish Much

We have grown accustomed in these days to hearing "the man with one idea" lauded as a very practical person, the one who has but a single purpose and holds steadily to that, and so accomplishes the more. The truth is that one idea is usually of very little worth unless it is accompanied by two or three others to give it ballast and direction. In nearly every manufacture and every business that employs help, the great mass of the employees are those who are fully occupied with doing the one thing they are engaged to do; the day's work for the day's wage is their limit, and beyond that the place holds for them neither interest nor care. But there are the few, the one or two, who are interested in the whole scheme—in what becomes of their work after it leaves their hands, how it fits in with the parts that others are doing, how the whole is managed and carried on, and the knowledge they gain enables them to do their own part better and to be ready for another part when it comes their way. They are not content with knowing only a fraction; they are intelligently eager to understand the whole, and it is these few, not the one-idea majority, who rise to positions of trust and power.

Likely To Be Wrong

Forecasting Weather Far In Advance Has Its Perils

The perils of weather forecasting for any long time in advance have been so often demonstrated that one must wonder at its being attempted so frequently. Many will recall the prediction that on December 17, 1912, the thermometers in Alberta would go to 100 degrees below zero. Winter had come unusually early and there had been an altogether abnormal stretch of severe cold. This so affected a large number of Albertans that they were prepared to believe the worst and very real fears were entertained that the date in question would see the prophecy realized. But it turned out to be about the mildest day of the winter. —Edmonton Journal.

Could Find Out Easily

No Such Thing As Gravity Claims Winnipeg Doctor

There is no such thing as magnetic or electric attraction and no pull of gravity, in the opinion of Dr. H. P. McPhail, Winnipeg physician.

He told the Royal Astronomical Society, Winnipeg Centre, these scientific facts were based on a speed of light of 186,000 miles per second, but, he claimed there was no normal or constant speed of light.

The essential difference between Dr. McPhail's theory and that of orthodox scientists was that he admitted no force except thought motion, and no transference of energy except through direct contact.

In other words, the genial doctor said, there was no mysterious attraction or repulsion without an actual transference of motion through a medium of contact. This, claimed Dr. McPhail as the learned members sat up in their seats, there was no pull of gravity and no pull of magnetic attraction. It was always a propulsive force of a rotating nature, he said.

This push of gravity is always due to infinitesimally small rays moving in every direction with tremendous energy, penetrating all matter and acting upon all particles within the mass.

"People with little knowledge of astronomy often make curious mistakes which are sometimes hard to refute," Dr. J. S. Plaskett, world-renowned scientist of Victoria, said. "No scientist believes that there is no force without contact." Dr. Plaskett said: "The force of gravity is a known fact and the amount can be measured, but why the force of gravity exists, we do not know."

Dr. Plaskett laughingly declined to comment on the suggestion of a fellow scientist that a simple dynamometer to step off an aeroplane 1,000 feet in the air and see if he could float.

Newspapers Are Best

Twenty per cent. of existing business concerns do eighty per cent. of the total volume of business because they are sold on advertising, says Louis L. Of course, there are lots of good men. It's only a question of what they are good for.

Matter Still Undecided

Emblem For Province Of Saskatchewan Hard To Find

The black-eyed Susan and the tiger lily, the waxwing, the chickadee, the grouse and the wild goose, were all advocated before a meeting of the Regina Natural History Society as flowers and birds emblematic of Saskatchewan. But the society left the matter over.

Ald. J. H. Taylor, president, pointed out that the society wasn't trying to have the emblem adopted as its own suggestion but aimed to interest other organizations, the Horticultural Society and the Fish and Game Society. A Saskatchewan emblem would then be pressed for before the legislature.

Prof. H. Schmidt, representing the Regina Horticultural Society, stated that organization had adopted the prairie rose as its emblem until it was found that Alberta already had the flower.

Mr. Taylor, noting that a newspaper correspondent had urged the grasshopper and dandelion be put in the emblem, termed the man a "horror culturist, not a horticulturist."

The Man Who Knows

Whether the Remedy You are taking for Headaches, Neuralgia or Rheumatism Pains is SAFE is Your Doctor. Ask Him

Don't Entrust Your Own or Your Family's Well-Being to Unknown Preparations

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of your headaches or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he has to say about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach, or often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct. Remember, this "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains... and safe for the average person to take regularly.

"Aspirin" Tablets are made in Canada. "Aspirin" is the registered trade-mark of the Bayer Company, Limited. Look for the name Bayer in the form of a cross on every tablet.

FLEMING'S FOLLY

— BY — LAWRENCE A. KEATING

SYNOPSIS

Here is an absorbing and exciting story of a fight against stubborn prejudice and a bitter personal malignancy of a girl and a man, of ridicule, sabotage, bullets, and the treachery that would turn them against each other.

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

Roper Kilgo, the boss of the Rawhide and nearby ranges, who seemed to approve the plan, was really opposed to it, and had forced Boak Torney, a derelict mining engineer, whom Kilgo knew would be called upon to give his expert opinion on every part of the scheme, to reverse his earlier endorsement, and declare that irrigation in Boone county was far as Hamilton's plan was concerned, was only a new-fangled way to waste money.

The meeting terminated, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Helen, Link and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as a result, ruin his "spread." Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Buster Townsend, Link's friend, is shot in the stomach, and Fleming is unharmed. Buzz is arrested. The doctor attends Townsend and dresses his wound. Buzz Roper suggests taking Helen to her home, but she refuses and Fleming escorts her home instead. This incident causes Roper to declare open hostility to Fleming. Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties. Link goes home, and is surprised to find Kilgo there ahead of him. Link tries to induce Link to drop his scheme, and when Fleming refuses, gives a signal by taking off his hat, and Link is shot at from outside the house.

Both men froze at the ringing command from Sheriff Ames. Stephen, "We had enough gun-talk to other day," he remarked coldly. "What's the matter here, can't you men get along?"

"He called me a liar," Roper growled.

"He did distort the truth a bit, according to my views. Helen," Link went on directly, "are you heading out to the ranch?"

"Why—uh, I'd sort of planned going that way, Helen," Link interposed, rubbing his jaw.

She hesitated while the three men watched her. "Why yes, but there's something important I want to talk to Link about."

His face lighted slowly with a knowing grin. "Shore, I savvy! I'll come over tonight and have a good talk. Remember what I told you, Helen—"

"About trying to buy me out so as to protect her from my big influence?" Link grinned. "That's stretching the truth too, Roper. There was a queer shooting scrape at my place that night—"

"Shooting?" Helen exclaimed.

"Nobody told me about it!" Ames Stephen growled.

"Probably some guy ridin' home drunk. Nobody got hurt."

Fleming turned to him and bowed. "Thanks to poor marksmanship. Better get someone else next time, Roper."

He bristled again. "Are you tryin' to make out I put some guy up to that?"

Helen darted between the men, both of them rising to hot anger again.

"Stop! Why, Link, whatever possessed you? I've known Roper for years and I know he wouldn't have anything to do with an attempted murder. That is too much, altogether too much. Whatever you think of him, it's Link to call a man a killer when you haven't the slightest proof. I—why, Link, I'm surprised at you!"

He stepped back in dismay. The suddenness of her defense of Kilgo flung a look of perplexity to the rancher's rather handsome face.

Fleming avoided her accusing eyes. Seemingly he had overstepped himself. The heightening sense of trouble brewing, with Roper as his chief antagonist had, perhaps, caused him to be indiscreet.

"Aw, Link, let's forget it. Come on, what do you say?" The other shuffled forward wearing a forced smile of friendliness. One hand was thrust out in the pretense of forgiving. Link eyed him an instant.

Then his lips curled and his voice sounded cold and controlled.

"That's just a grandstand play, and you know it. There's no friendship between us!"

He turned on his heel and started off. But with a gasp Helen scurried after and seized his sleeve. "Link, please! Why not be friends? If you won't," she hinted with color draining from her cheeks, "I—I'm afraid you will have made a choice. Roper is a good friend of mine, and he has known Buzz and me longer than you have. I mean—"

"—almost anyone who is a man is willing to forgive and forget. Are you trying to make trouble?"

He hesitated, unwilling to pretend comradeship for one whose face and words were a mere mask of his true feelings. But Helen's meaning was clear: she was insistent upon this handshake to restore peace. Perhaps she felt it her duty to bring them together on a new basis. Roper considered himself practically engaged to her. What was her real feeling about that?

A partnership in irrigation could not be successful unless there was harmony between them. And—Link's pulse sped faster—wasn't that genuine concern in the girl's eyes, concern for his well-being if he had an influential enemy in Kilgo?

He desisted himself for doing it, yet felt he must. Sheriff Stephen watched the tableau in silence. Fleming raised his hand, pressed Roper's briefly, then turned away.

"Shall we start now?" he asked in a low tone.

As they rode off Link had an uncomfortable suspicion that somehow Kilgo had been in the scene. He cast a sidelong glance at Helen and found her uncommunicative. When they reached Rawhide and were walking their horses down its main street, Otto Pieper emerged from his bank. He sighted the girl and beckoned.

"I'm sorry, but I forgot I'll have to stop and talk to Mr. Pieper. You see, I want to find out just what the condition of the Triple H is, how much money we have and all that."

He considered offering to wait, but felt instinctively that she might prefer to go on alone—or to have Roper, who rode with several other men a half mile behind, escort her home.

"By the way," Link said, drawing his buckskin near as she dismounted before the bank. "I don't want to press you about this irrigation business, but I'm wonderin' if you really want to come in with me. Maybe you'd like to think it over real careful, how KIL—er, folks are so set against it."

She tied her pony, then smiled at him from the sidewalk. "I've decided to go into it. And I never back out of a thing, Link."

His heart leaped. It was true that Triple H land adjoining his Star Loop spread would benefit the most, was the local outfit to club with him for the erection of a dam to back up Silver Creek.

"When can we get down to bed rock on this proposition?" he asked.

"The thing should be started now so we'll get an alfalfa crop early next summer. If we wait till spring it'll be that much longer for a return."

She hesitated, then spoke what was on her mind. "Link, I didn't want you to have more trouble with Roper—that's why I asked you to shake hands with him. I came with you now to say that. Perhaps you don't like him, but after all, he is a friend of mine."

He flushed and made no reply. "But I'll tell him not to come to the ranch to-night. You come, Link, and we'll talk over all our plans for irrigation. Why not come early, for supper?"

The Box 50 owner, Benson and Sheriff Stephen were dismounting a few yards away. Fleming felt certain Kilgo had heard Helen's invitation. He could not restrain a thrill of triumph. "Fine, I'll sure be there!" Turning his mount, he started at a brisk run for the Star Loop.

Pieper, he knew, would attempt to talk her out of participating in what the conservative banker would regard as a "wildcat" scheme. Otto's habit was to believe what the majority of local citizens believed; he had discovered long ago that such a policy kept him in the good graces of influential men who might otherwise have ousted him from the bank presidency. Link hoped that Helen would not state her intention to Otto. As for Kilgo, he felt certain now the man could not persuade her out of the partnership.

Smallest Coin In Panama

Medio Torno Two And Half Cents Used By Poor

Down in Panama the smallest coin is known as a "medio," worth about 2½ cents, there being no 1-cent pieces. The coin is used extensively by the poorer classes of the population. All goods capable of being reduced in lots to such value are quoted in that unit. This is particularly the case with biscuits of the cheap sweet variety which are very much in favor with the native population. The United States supplies the greater portion of this trade, while Great Britain caters to the demand for fancy or more expensive types of biscuits. Canada enjoys a comparatively small share of the trade along with Germany, according to the industrial Department of the Canadian National Railways. There is somewhat limited domestic production of cheap biscuits by individual bakers, more or less of a sideline. There is a steady and considerable consumption of soda biscuits, largely among the native population.

Beautiful Piece of Work Being Returned To Ceylon

One of the most beautiful pieces of early Chinese craftsmanship in existence will shortly be returned to Ceylon from London. It is a handgun four feet long and encrusted with finely chased gold and precious stones. In 1815 it was in the armoury of Sir Wilfrid Roke Slinn, the deposed King of Ceylon, and was brought to England by Sir John D'Oyly. It has now been purchased for Ceylon by Dr. Paul Pieris, the Ceylon Trade Commissioner in England.

Unified Air Express

Will Cover United States And Part Of Canada

A unified air and air-rail express service covering the United States, with provision for Canadian facilities, and extending across the Pacific and to South America, was announced by L. O. Head, president of the Railway Express Agency, following a meeting with representatives of interested air lines in New York.

Twenty of the 23 domestic air lines in the United States and Pan American Airways have signed contracts with the Railway Express Agency for the service which is to be inaugurated February 1. A door-to-door pick up and delivery service is contemplated for 215 cities in the United States and Canada with a population of 400,000, and, through the Pan-American Airways system, with 32 foreign countries.

It was pointed out that the air express system, started in 1917, has grown until in 1935 2,400,000,000 pound miles were flown, handling an estimated total of 2,400,000 pounds of express.

Under the new set up a pound of express may be transported across the continent by any route for 96 cents a pound. The rate on the newly established line from California to Hawaii will be $1.67 a pound.

The lack of trained chickens in Hollywood gave Warren William an idea. The actor has established the film colony's first school for fowl which may be film-struck but a little shy about it. Thirty chickens have been started on a course of education which he believes will fit them for every demand of the movies.

Social Events Postponed

The Burns Anniversary banquet of the Caledonian Society, has been postponed from Jan. 24 to Feb. 7, in respect to the memory of the late King George V. The Elks Lodge also postponed a whist drive and dance from Feb. 23 to a date to be named.

THE SALVATION ARMY

In connection with "The World For God Campaign" we will be holding a special week of services from February 2 to 9. Officers from nearby cities and local ministers will be taking part. You are heartily welcome. Sunday services will be as usual.

A demonstration of the latest 22-tube radio set manufactured by R. C. A. Victor Corporation was given in the Grand Union Tuesday, by H. A. Glennie, of Calgary. It also will make records, and several local singers including Granville Greehalgh, Mamie McLellan and Tommy McGovern enjoyed the novelty of having their voices reproduced. G. R. Powell is the local dealer for the Victor radios.

Jenkins came to the fore in prominent fashion this week when he was the central figure in a near riot at the Hat. Quail, powerful defence player of the Hat, was the victim when two stitches were required to close a cut in his head. Jenkins is quoted as saying that Quail was trying to use the butt end of his stick on him, below the belt, and if he had succeeded Jenkins would have been finished for the evening. As it was Jenkins was given fifteen minutes in penalties.

PINCHER CREEK JUNIORS DISAPPOINTED

Pincher Creek Juniors disappointed both the Tigers and local hockey fans on Sunday when they failed to arrive for their scheduled game with the Tigers at the local arena.

The game was arranged three weeks ago when Coleman played at the Creek, and on Wednesday previous to the game on Sunday last a letter was sent to the Pincher secretary again informing him of his team's engagement at Coleman and if they were unable to come to telephone A. Gentile at the Coleman Hotel. On Saturday afternoon last, Pincher, in a telephone conversation with Sidney White, told the latter to be in Coleman on the Sunday as they were playing there.

At 3.30 Sunday in response to a telephone call enquiring if they had left for Coleman, the local secretary was informed by one of the Creek officials that they were unable to come and were sorry to have caused inconvenience to Coleman.

The Tigers offer their apologies to their supporters who came to the arena to support them.

Dominion radio inspectors are securing convictions in the larger cities and towns in Alberta against all radio owners who failed to take out their 1935 radio licenses. Twelve convictions have been secured in the cities and the next scene of their activities will be in the Pass towns.

The Coleman contingent which competed at the Pincher Creek 'spiel did very well. Moore's rink went to the final of the International event before falling by the wayside and D'Appolonia gained third prize in the Grand Challenge.

Radio amateur artists from Coleman in Lethbridge today are Gwen Brown, Mamie McLellan, Coleman Boys' Orchestra, and John Pietraszko. They hope to eventually appear in Major Bowes' amateur hour.
